

Intermediate Directions

You know that a compass rose has four main directions.

A compass rose can show intermediate directions, too. Intermediate directions are between the main directions.

For example, the direction between north and west is northwest. Letters sometimes stand for the intermediate directions on a compass rose. For example, NE stands for northeast.

Answer these questions.

1. What direction is between south and east? _____
2. What direction is between north and east? _____
3. What direction is opposite of northwest? _____
4. What do the letters NW stand for on a compass rose? _____
5. What letters stand for southwest? _____

This map shows an intersection.
 An intersection is where two roads cross.

Find the bank on the map. It is east of Water Street and north of Central Avenue. So the bank is on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Color each compass rose to show the correct direction.

1. In what direction is the town hall from the hospital?

2. On which corner is the supermarket?

3. On which corner is the hospital?

4. You ran out of money at the supermarket. In which direction do you go to get more?

5. In which direction would you go from the supermarket to the town hall?
